CRUELTY OF THE CHECK REIN —The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals some time since issued a pamphlet, from which the following suggestions on the check rein are copied

"How dreadful to see a horse heavy laden—his neck bent into a perfect curve—his mouth open, and his eyes ready to start out of their sockets The ignorant, though, perhaps, not cruelly disposed driver, looks on with admiration to see how handsome' his horse appears, and imagines that the tossing head, open mouth and gnashing teeth, are signs of game and strength, while, on the contrary they are the most unequivocal evidences of distress and agony Let any one test the truth of this by loosening the check rein, and he will immediately find the horse go faster, keep his mouth shut, and his head in one steady, horizontal position A short time since, the writer stopped a wagon to look at the mouth of the shaft horse He found the mouth actually cut open by the bit at least two inches on each side the wagoner said he know'd it, sure, 'twas the fair wear of the arn'!"

OUR NEW YORK LETTER.

[FROM A CORRESPONDENT OF THE OREGONIAN.]

NEW YORK, Feb 1 1867

Some months have passed since we dropped you a note from this Gulf stream of humanity in the sea of brown stone shoddydom We have been "swinging round the circle" of our social horizon and come back to plain metropolitan hash and steamer day

Did you ever think how much the living tide of Broadway is like the constant stream of the Columbia? You start from the Battery and Old Castle Garden, where Jenny Lind has sung and the Monster Union Saving Meeting of Fugitive Slave law and Kansas Nebraska times was held this is Baker's Bay and the bar at the mouth, on which in former days so many good ships struck their keels, and left-like the Fugitive Slave law, only a wreck behind Bowling Green and its surroundings including the commercial house of an old Portlander, W D Gookin Esq, remind you of Astoria and Tongue Point Ascending the stream, you come to Trinity Church and its gray old graves of an hundred years ago, and this is Coffin Rock surely Wells, Fargo & Co's Express looms up like the town of St Helens, on its solid foundations, over sure and a good chance to grow into millions.

A little further up the right bank, comes in that wonderful artery of bullion and bankers, bills of exchange and brokers bulls and bears, Broad street and a bust up, known all round the world as Wall street and the Stock Exchange Is it not curious that this is the corresponding place where Portland and the Willamette join their currents to the stream

At the City Hall Park stands the venerable Astor House substantial in her granite walls as in her dinner and old time sausages, but business has of late gone up the town, and the Head Quarters of Commissary and Quartermaster stores is no longer at this Vancouver of the city

Rooster Rock is our Metropolitan Hotel, where many of the Oregon and California travelers, waiting a favorable wind or tide to weather a "Cape Horn' of Greenbacks, look out upon the flood of humanity passing down the stream and to upon the flood of colored waiters and "bills to be settled promptly every week'

There is no 'Black Crook' on the Columbia, like the glittering French affair, which has been running over 150 consecutive nights at Niblo's Theatre It is made up principally of silver showers, gilded grottoes, spangles imitation diamonds, a ballet master and 70 imported dancing girls, all as beautiful as Hebe and dressed something in the style of Eve's costume, as the painters and poets represent it, when our first parents emigrated from Eden.

The man who made Pocahontas from a Virginia Indian girl, or he who constructed Hiawatha from a Minnesota squaw, could easily manufacture a good second hand "Black Crook" from a Chinook Medicine man and 50 or 1000 siwash clootchmen' Moreover, he could make a fortune by exhibiting them in London and Paris during the World's Fair Here is a great opening for an enterprising man, and we make no charge for the suggestion. The "Crooks" of New York, were imported at an expense of $50,000, and the stage machinery and gilded trappings cost as much more Already, it is advocated that 420,000 from city and county have been to see it, and the cry is still they come.

Having tarried at the 'Horn" too long, let us again ascend the stream In due time, having passed many bars, some of which at low tide required a hawser around the capstan, or a splice to the main brace, we came to 14th street and Union Square This is the Cascade of the Columbia, where all the noisy, uproarous and tumultuous gatherings of civil and political waters meet, and where the froth and foam of great holiday gatherings rush down the current of time Here is the "Maison Dore," with its Champagne and Burgundy, French cooks and fat dinners, where the City Fathers and the millionaire fashionables are at all hours of the day and night.

This may remind you either of some friendly entertainment at Put Bradford's when he sojourned at your Cascades, or of the hospitable cheer at the cabin of Col Ruckle in the days when he was constructing that railroad on the Oregon side

Across the way, is the Church of Dr. Cheever, that curious compound of orthodox abolitionism original Puritanism and radical christianity, which may not have a parallel on the Washington Territory side.

Passing all this turmoil in the Cascade of Broadway we ascend to that modern marble caravansery, the 'Fifth Avenue Hotel," in which the guests are transported from basement or parlor to their bed-rooms on the upper floors, anywhere from five to fifteen stories, by a steam elevating car, take your seats in what appears to be a cozy little nook, at one side the main hall, elegantly carpeted with Brussels and upholstered with sofas and divans the gentlemanly conductor whom you thought was only a waiter boy, touches a spring, and instantly the whole room is rapidly going up towards the roof of the Hotel. You can stop at each floor as a train stops at stations, or you can go on until the proprietors have set you as near heaven as their line extends.

Around this great hotel are a score or more of other hotels, Club rooms and Restaurants scarcely inferior to the 'Fifth Avenue,' in luxury of entertainments or length of bills

Conveniently near to this "Dalles' of a place, are many of those gilded palaces and whited sepulchres of New York, where nightly gentlemen who deal largely in ivory and pasteboard do congregate to consult about the condition of the market and the state of the finances, for they wear fine linen and fare sumptuously every day The stakes they play for in the game of fortune are not counted by tens or hundreds Chief among these "gentlemen of the green" is the Hon John Morrissey, the great ex pounder, who whipped Bill Poole, or some other Bill. Morrissey has become a millionaire lives like a fighting-cock and speculates largely in railroad and mining stocks He had decidedly reformed a few years ago, but is on the downward road again, for he was, at the last election in New York city, a candidate for Congress on the Democratic ticket, and was elected Mr Mallory will have the honor of a two years' service and association with Mr Morrissey at Washington, and thus shall a scripture fulfillment of "the lion and the lamb," etc be foreshadowed. This simile may not seem so far fetched when taken in connection with a horrid pun that was perpetrated on us the other day? Why are sporting men so much like lambs? We gave it up at once for we had always heard them compared to tigers the quiz replied, "Because they gambol on the green!"

Here we must stop our rambling and return down Broadway Passing along the pave one morning, we were accosted by a friend, we knew he was a friend by a remark he made 'Alas hi usa, six,—let us stop and look at the beautiful specimen from the White Bull lode in Santiam" Finely displayed in a large show-window of Browne & Spalding's great jewelry establishment, under the Metropolitan Hotel the rich ores of gold in the native rock, specimens of quartz thickly threaded with the precious metals in all conceivable forms of nature's filigree work, vials and cases by the score crammed full of beautiful gold in clusters, skeins, leaves, lumps and nuggets, just as the secret laws of earth's mighty Artificer had formed them into shape A card within the window states that 'these specimens of gold from the Santiam mines of Oregon, are intended for the Paris Exposition" No other State will beat this in curious and beautiful gold exhibitions for the World's Fair

Late arrivals from Idaho have brought to this city that wonderfully rich silver ore from the Poorman mine in Owyhee Two or three tons of the finer specimens, and larger masses, weighing from 50 to 350 pounds each, comprising horn silver ruby silver silver glance and all the rich forms of chlorides and sulphurets of this metal, are now on exhibition, and the rooms of the Poormen of Idaho are daily thronged with the Richmen of New York Like the Queen of Sheba, after her visit to view the splendor and the wealth of the court of King Solomon, they say "the half has not been told" of Idaho

The larger portion of that rich ore, some 12 or 13 tons, is now undergoing treatment and reduction at smelting furnaces in Newark, New Jersey, the only place in the Atlantic States at which are erected and maintained furnaces adequate to the reduction of any large quantity of rich metaliferous ores

In our next, we will give a statement of the result and the amount of bullion extracted

Where the carcass is, there will the eagles be gathered together.

Oregon and Idaho are largely represented in this city in this time From Owyhee, are Messrs Walbridge Robbins, Stiles, Pat Bradford, Greenebach Scrimgour and some others, all well—but to be set down in the Poorman list Preston Farnham, Benson and many more represent the Boise Basin and Idaho City districts

Mining matters for Idaho are beginning to attract a large share of public attention, but unfortunately there are too many undeveloped and speculating feet in the market, which have more value in the fertile brain and on the voluble tongue of the holder than they have in the lodes and shafts The day has gone by when a miner either in person or by attorney can draw fifty or an hundred thousand dollars from the pockets of the capitalists of the Atlantic States, for every extension of the "Golden Buster" lode or the "Silver Chameleon" true fissure vein When a really good mine has been discovered and demonstrated, not by assays of little specimens which can be carried in the vest pocket but by a practical opening of the ledge, and the treatment of many tons of ore, there will be little trouble in finding Eastern capitalists to invest in the mine If the owner is not able to thus open his lode, he had better give a half or three quarters to some one who can, remembering that "a nimble sixpence is better than a slow shilling"

B M. DuRell of Idaho, an old Oregonian whom fire and flood conspired to drive to bankruptcy at Salem and who has happily regained all losses in his new home, is here looking after the interests of the First National Bank at Boise City, which will shortly be established there provided the requisite amount of circulation can be obtained The entire amount of National Bank notes allowed by the act of Congress to be issued, has been taken by Eastern Banks, and there must be either a larger issue provided for by Congress, or a curtailment in some quarter where the local Banks have got more than their share

A few days ago the telegraph informed us that there was organized a great oil company in Oregon with a cash capital of $500,000 paid in and that the company had made arrangements to erect three oil mills, at Portland, Salem and Oregon City 'Who has struck ile?' Lucky fellow, that beats the man who drew the Chicago Opera House in the grand gift lottery

The Fenian Fiasco has nearly finished its fights The thousand and tens of thousands of dollars which have been gathered by the leaders from our Irish fellow-citizens, throughout America, from Bangor to Tilamook, has passed into the lap of oblivion, and that old dame has gathered up apron strings and made off with the entire plunder O'Mahoney at first kept the keys, and fitted up in gorgeous style as the new Mecca of Erin, a palatial residence on Union Square, known as the "Moffatt Mansion," once the home of that prince of pill makers, Dr. Moffatt Roberts was shortly after the rising star of Fenianism in America, and scores of thousands of dollars were poured into his treasury. Head Centre Stephens, C O I. R, next came like a "sun burst" on Erin's banner, fresh from the prisons of Dublin, the smell of battle all over him He has gathered and garnered more greenbacks than all who came and went before him. In December he disappeared from the public gaze, in the vicinity of Boston, and was confidently supposed to have passed on to New Foundland and taken the Sub marine Telegraph Cable fast line for the shores of Ireland He had for three months pledged to his countrymen and country women, that with the advent of 1867 they should behold the sword of battle unsheathed on Irish soil, never again to seek its scabbard until Erin was free' For two months he has been living incognito, and last week was seen by many in Brooklyn and once in this city On Saturday a party of gentlemen, with very unpronounceable French names, were registered on the passenger list of the French steamer, and just at the hour of sailing, in close carriages, they were driven to the pier. They are supposed to have been the redoubtable Head Centre and suite.

"When the cat's away the mice will play"

The following is a resolution unanimously adopted at one of the largest Fenian circles of this city, since the reported departure of the C. O. I. R.,

Whereas, James Stephens the so-called C. O. I. R., has, according to his own words, proved himself a liar, a scoundrel, and a rascal, and wound up a career of deception and fraud in a most ignominious fizzle, in the city of New York, three thousand miles from the place where he promised to offer up his life upon the altar of his country, and

Whereas, the said Stephens and his chief officials who were cognizant of, and aided him in the infamous fraud he was practicing upon a confiding and patriotic people have been guilty of a most gigantic swindle, and enormous crime perpetrated through misrepresentations upon the men in Ireland of the aid to be received by taxing the Fenian Brotherhood in America, and to the Fenians of America of the strength, desires and resources of men in Ireland thus duping one by misrepresentations of the other and thereby aiding in a deception, the effects of which are seen and felt in crowded jails, deserted homes, broken hearts, and a general stagnation of labor and industry in Ireland, and in the presence of thousands of expatriated patriots who crowd the shores of America friendless, homeless, and almost penniless, blind officers of corrupt, incompetent, and heartless leaders of the victims of a savage and alien government, be it therefore

Resolved That this meeting denounce to everlasting infamy, and as unworthy of association or recognition by honest men, the authors and plotters of the infamous robbery of the Irish people in America, and of the ruin and punishments brought by them upon the true men of Ireland.

Alas! for poor Ireland! how long is she destined to be the sport of intriguers or imbecile adventurers who aspire to become leaders of her people! Better for Irishmen at once and forever to cut loose from "the fast anchored isle," and seriously betake themselves to making America a final home for themselves and their posterity Gladly would we hail with joy a brave movement by the Irish people to liberate themselves from British dominion But they must first emancipate themselves from the bitter prejudice and inquisitorial hate which in their Catholic or Protestant zeal, they bear toward each others' religion, before providence will smile upon the future of green Erin

Casually yours again, FLEET A. FLINT.

ORIGIN OF THE POTATO.—Pending the discussion of a proposition to appropriate $80,000 for the purchase of seeds, to be distributed by the Commissioner of Agriculture, the following amusing joust occurred in Congress last month

Mr. Delano (Rep., Ohio) denounced the Commissioner as unfit for the position As an illustration of the Commissioner's intelligence, he said that a gentleman was recently in conversation with him on the origin and native place of the Irish potato. The Commissioner, assuming the gravity which the occasion demanded, said that was a subject on which he had bestowed a good deal of attention, that he had not come to any final conclusion, but that his best opinion was that the Irish potato originated in Pennsylvania [Laughter]

Mr Thayer (Rep, Penn) asked Mr Delano whether he could prove that that was so?

Mr Stevens defended Mr Newton and spoke of his character as being beyond reproach He did not care whether the Irish potato originated in Pennsylvania or not. He would like some gentleman wiser than Mr Newton to tell him where it did originate He thought it originated in the West Indies, but others thought it originated in Pennsylvania [Laughter]

THE CAHOES MASTODON —The Albany correspondent of the Syracuse, New York Journal has the following The bones of the Mastodon exhumed at Cahoes, lie in State at the Geological Rooms. The bones, which were very brittle when for a time exposed to the air, have been boiled in glue, and are now as endurable as any other bones. Search is still going on for the wanting parts of the skeleton; but even if they are not found by the aid of a few counterfeit duplicates the "animile" will yet be put in standing condition, 10½ feet high, 15 feet long. Professor Hall tells me that it will be nearly a year before this is accomplished The Professor thinks it impossible he should have belonged to the elephantine genus, if for no other reason, because his teeth bear no resemblance to those of an elephant I asked Professor Hall how long ago, in his opinion, this animal existed "From 10,000 to 30,000 years," was his reply, "probably about 25,000." He says the Hudson has made all its channel since that day, and that then through this valley a very large ocean stream flowed

Nineteen of the French Bishops have, down to the 1st of January, addressed pastoral letters to their clergy on the dangers which, according to them, are impending over the Holy See Some of them are long and diffuse, and as the writers treat the same subject, they occasionally repeat each other

FRIDAY MORNING, MARCH 8, 1867.

The Victory.

The close of the final session of the Thirty-Ninth Congress was signalized by the greatest triumph that body ever gained. Its final act extinguished the last breath of the policy which the President set up a few months after he came to the Executive office, and which, in defiance of the will of the people, he was still struggling to maintain. Congressional reconstruction is triumphant. The imperfect and unauthorized work of the President is brushed away, and an enduring superstructure is to be erected on the basis of loyalty and justice. This new measure goes to the very foundation of the whole question. It is substantially what intelligent people, months ago, predicted would come. The obstinacy of the President and the contumacy of the late rebels necessitated its adoption.

The military feature of the new plan seems to be substantially that of Stevens' bill, as reported about a month ago. This, in the first place, provides for the organization of the States into military districts. The military forces are to protect all persons in the rights of person and property; to suppress insurrectionary violence, and to punish all criminals and all disturbers of the public peace. Military government is to continue until the States shall form new civil governments, and until the same shall be recognized as legitimate by action of Congress.

Steps are immediately to be taken for the organization of new State governments. The course to be pursued will probably conform very nearly to that indicated in the dispatches some weeks ago. This is about as follows: A Provisional Governor will be appointed for each State by the President with the concurrence of the Senate. Conventions will be held to frame Constitutions which shall be in harmony with the Constitution of the United States. All persons will be entitled to vote for members of these Conventions who can take the test oath, and who have lived in the State one year. Persons who cannot take the test oath, but who never voluntarily aided the rebellion, except as private soldiers in regular warfare, may be entitled to vote upon giving satisfactory proof of these facts. There is to be a registration of all voters, and none except such as have conformed to the provisions of the law will be entitled to the privileges of electors. No distinction is to be made on account of race or color. The work of reorganization and restoration is to begin at once. The plan of Congress is to take the place of the President's plan.

Where now are those pretended State governments which President Johnson caused to be organized without authority of law? Congress ignores them, and by enactment sweeps them away. Reconstruction is to begin just where it ought to have begun a year and a half ago. Had not the President undertaken that which he had no right to touch; had he not set up a "policy" to which he perversely endeavored to make the people bend and yield—had he waited for the action of Congress as it was his duty to do, he would have been spared his present humiliation, and the Union would, ere now, have been restored.

The act of Congress, unless we are mistaken, requires impartial suffrage. One year ago the South, by prompt action, could have prevented this measure which is so undesirable and even hateful to them. They could have had the constitutional amendment, with or without impartial suffrage, as they chose. But they contemptuously spurned it. They were warned that it was the best offer they would get. The consequences were foreshown. But they refused the Sibylline books at the price for which they were offered, and now they are compelled to take them at the greater price. So by submission after the first year of the war they could have saved slavery, the sole object for which they rebelled. Three years later they found they had lost everything, slavery included.

The tone of the principal Northern Democratic papers indicates which way the tide is setting. The telegraph assures us that they acquiesce in the action of Congress as the only course. They believe the present plan the best one attainable for the South, and counsel its adoption. Further resistance they know to be vain. They see the hopelessness of contending longer to uphold the "Lost Cause." Democrats begin to talk about bowing to public opinion, and yielding to the popular verdict. This is significant, coming from Mr. Reverdy Johnson. Nor are the chivalry again about to take the war path, as they declared they would if measures like these were adopted. On the contrary, they are in an unusually amiable mood. Scarcely had Tennessee enfranchised her black citizens, when the chivalry began to cajole with the negroes for their votes. The "war of races" has not yet begun. Peace smiles more benignantly than ever. Southern gentlemen who were going to die before they would submit to the dishonor of such associations, are now cap in hand before the negroes, asking for their suffrages. At last they consent to "accept the situation" in the broadest sense of that term. And the President surrenders with them. He announces his purpose of carrying out the law of Congress to the very letter. Of course he will. But as he has no choice in the matter, few will regard this action on his part in the light of a concession.

The act to admit Nebraska into the Union prescribed as a condition of such admission, that the Legislature of the State should enact that there should be no abridgment or denial of the elective franchise, or of any other right, by reason of race or color. The Legislature passed an act in fulfillment of this condition, and the President thereupon issued his proclamation declaring Nebraska a State in the Union. This action has, of course, been characterized as "unconstitutional" by many persons, but there is at least one precedent for it. Reverting to the Democratic times of 1820–21, when Missouri was admitted into the Union, we find that a condition was imposed by Congress, preparatory to her admission, to the effect that a certain clause in her constitution should not be construed to deprive colored citizens of any privileges they were entitled to under the Constitution of the United States. The Legislature consented to the restriction, and Missouri was admitted. So this proceeding in the case of Nebraska is not so novel after all.

It is stated in the Idaho papers that a prize fight is to come off at Boise City on the 10th inst, between Dwyer and Redman for $500 a side. Hope both of them will get their full money's worth in pounding and mauling.

A BEAUTIFUL PHENOMENON.—During the progress of an extensive conflagration, which raged in the West Division during the early part of last night, a strange phenomenon was observed in the heavens. For nearly an hour the sidewalks on Clark, Dearborn and adjoining streets were crowded with a multitude of thousands, intently gazing in the direction of the "setting sun." The night was dark, but to the west the fire lit up the horizon for considerable space. This was nothing more than usual, and would have attracted only a passing glance. But above this lurid reflection, there shot upward a "pillar of fire," such as in shape, size, and color was never seen before. Its altitude was no less than seventy degrees, with a breadth nearly that of the rainbow, even up to the highest pinnacle. For a base was the dark red reflection proper of the fire; then commenced the pillar, of a pale, yellowish hue; half way up it turned to a light red, and the whole was surmounted by a glowing dark red crown. Thus it would draw down within itself, as it were, and then suddenly shoot up into the sky, for a moment giving a brilliant hue to the whole heavens. The indirect cause of this strange phenomenon was unquestionably the fire, but the immediate cause which produced this beautiful formation is a puzzle which those who saw it are unable to solve.—Chicago Times, Feb. 20.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO MARCH 6.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—In the Senate, Ramsey, of Minnesota, introduced a resolution calling on the Secretary of the Interior to communicate a copy of the report of Brig-Gen. Simpson, on the Pacific Railroad and its branches. Adopted.

Sherman, of Ohio, called up a resolution from the House for the appointment of a Joint Committee of three Senators and three Representatives to review and fix the pay of officers of the two Houses. Agreed to.

Doolittle, of Wisconsin, on a question of privilege, referred to the report of a Committee of the last House, which charged that he had received $5,000 from Collector Smythe, characterized it as absolutely and unqualifiedly false and a cowardly slander. He said there was not a single instance during his Senatorial career where his recommendation had been sought and obtained that a pecuniary consideration of the value of one cent was ever expected or received, directly or indirectly.

Patterson, charged with receiving money from the same party, by the Committee, said: "All I have to say is that it is false—false in its charges, false in its intentions, false in its innuendoes. I never received a cent from Smythe. If the Senate will permit me to say so, I will say it is false as hell."

Harlan, of Iowa, introduced a bill to admit Colorado, and gave notice of a bill to construct a military and freight railroad from the Mississippi river to the Atlantic coast.

Sumner, of Massachusetts, introduced a bill to provide for a republican form of government in the late rebellious States. It provides for the establishment of civil governments on the basis of loyal votes. Ordered printed and to lie on the table until the appropriate committee is formed. Sumner also introduced a bill to provide an oath to maintain a republican form of government which prescribes that every person in every State except Tennessee lately declared to be in rebellion, shall, before being allowed to vote or hold office, take oath or affirmation to maintain a republican form of government in the State of which he is an inhabitant and in the United States, and will recognize the indissolubility of the Republic, and discountenance all efforts to break away or secede from the Union; that he will give his influence to sustain the national currency; discountenance the repudiation of the war debt of the United States and the payment of the rebel war debt or any claim for loss of slaves; discountenance and resist all laws making distinction on account of race or color, and will give his support to education and the diffusion of knowledge in public schools. All and any person falsely taking such oath is to be deemed guilty of perjury and subject to penalties thereof and rendered incapable of holding office. Ordered to lie on the table until the committee are appointed.

Harlan, of Iowa, introduced a bill to consolidate the Southern and Central Indian Superintendencies and create Indian Agencies, and create an Indian Superintendency of Idaho. Ordered printed.

"Whereas, the municipal officers of Alexandria, Va., have refused to obey and execute the laws of the United States, therefore, resolved that the municipal offices of that city are hereby declared vacated. Persons exercising the authority of said offices, or attempting to exercise the authority of the same, shall, on conviction, be imprisoned for not less than one year, and pay a fine of not less than one hundred dollars. Adjourned.

In the House, Thomas of Maryland presented the petition of J. J. Stewart contesting the seat of Phelps of Maryland. Referred to the Committee on Elections.

Several resolutions were offered, which lie over.

Morehead of Pennsylvania offered a resolution referring the tariff bill of the 39th Congress, with pending amendments, to the Committee of Ways and Means when appointed. Without action, the House adjourned.

Washington News.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—After the Senate adjourned, the private Secretary of the President brought to the Capitol a large number of nominations, principally of postmasters and positions in the army and navy, for the action of that body. It is calculated that over 600 vacancies under the various branches of the Government are to be filled before the adjournment of the Senate.

Several private conferences of the Republican members of the House were held to-day, at one of which, with Generals Butler and Logan, were present advocating, it is said, the appointment of a special committee to pursue the impeachment of the President. The Ohio delegation had a conference to-day, but the subject of their deliberations is unknown, further than it referred to what business should be transacted during the session.

The New York delegation, at their conference, recommended that the impeachment question be referred to a Special Committee, composed of seven members of the late Judiciary Committee, and who have been returned to the present House. The views of these several parties will be urged upon the caucus to-night, at which it will be determined whether the standing Committees shall not be appointed, or whether this shall be done only after elections in the Southern States shall have been held. The probability is that the appointment of the Committee will be postponed, excepting one specially interested in the impeachment. It is the opinion of some members that this session will not continue longer than a week, and then a recess till May will be taken. The time of adjournment cannot be ascertained until the caucus decides.

The return of the report of the Southern part of the Omaha Indian Reservation situated on the Missouri river, in the extreme southern part of Nebraska, has been received by the Commissioner of the general land office, showing that the reservation has been divided into a northern and southern section under the treaty of March 6, 1865. The former has been sold to the United States, and is to be occupied by the Winnebagos, and the latter is to be occupied by the Omahas. There has been assigned to each head of a family 160 acres, and to each male person 18 years old and upward a tract not exceeding 40 acres. White persons are not allowed to reside on the reservation except such as are in the employ of the United States, without a written permission from the Superintendent of Indian Affairs, or the special agent of the reservation.

The monthly statement of the public debt shows that the total debt is $2,608,728,019; amount in the treasury in coin, $107,277,103 12; in currency, $52,235,808 27.

General Lippincott who was recently elected doorkeeper of the House of Representatives, will not make any changes of importance among the subordinates till the close of the present session. Meanwhile some of the employees are striving to be retained, while hundreds of others are making application for appointment.

The Land office, of Oregon City, has returned to the General Land Office certificates of titles to 1075 old settlement claims. The General Land Office has issued Patents for 3749 of these, covering nearly one million acres. The Land Offices at Vancouver and Olympia have returned certificates for 581 claims of the same kind. Four hundred and eighty Patents have been issued, embracing 150,000 acres.

NEW YORK, March 7.—The World's special says: The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has issued instructions for an immediate levy of assessments under the receipt law, the time being changed from May to March.

The Government and the defence are ready to proceed to the trial of Surratt. It will probably commence on Monday.

The Times' special says: Sherman, Meade, Hancock, McDowell, and Schofield will be the commanders of the Military Districts of the South.

The Herald's correspondent is reliably informed that Gen. Thomas will command Mississippi and Arkansas; Sheridan, Louisiana and Texas; Schofield, Alabama, Georgia and Florida, and Ord, Virginia. Excepting Gen. Sheridan, these officers are now in Washington.

The same correspondent says he has excellent authority for saying that the President, in the event of his being arraigned before the Senate on impeachment, will decline on the ground that the present body represents only 20 States and cannot entertain the question.

The New York Tribune editorially says the majority of the Republican members of the new Congress are clearly in favor of impeachment as is shown by the caucus last night. Great care has been determined on in future action.

The Times' special says: Several witnesses who were summoned by the Judiciary Committee, arrived too late for the last Congress, and are now waiting the action of the present body on impeachment.

The Committee on Elections in the House will have a large amount of work to do in contested seat cases, among which are Mr. Hooper, of Utah, and Mr. Hunt, of Colorado. Senator Cole will be on the new Committee on appropriations.

The New York papers are collating the opinions of the Southern press on the reconstruction law. It is agreed that the temper of the South is generally hostile and bitter, but that they may accept these terms, lest worse things come upon them.

The World counsels immediate acceptance, and says that the South, profiting by the inability of the negroes to read the Radical documents, should surround them with conservative influences and improve on this state of things while it lasts.

The Tribune says, with scarcely an exception, the Southern journals declare the new law an act of tyranny, and complains that the rebel States are opposed to the acceptance of the offer of Congress and yield to military rule only because it cannot be helped. They urge that an appeal must be made to the Supreme Court, and that failing, nothing is left but abject submission. Such appears to be the spirit of the South, according to the Tribune's summary of opinion from the Southern press.

The Suez Canal.

NEW YORK, March 6.—The Suez Canal is practically open to commerce. One hundred bales of goods from Suez for Paris have taken this route to the Mediterranean. A telegram says the waters of the sea reach Pelusium.

Dispatches from Heart's Content says the cable is working splendidly; but the Irish wires are down, probably in consequence of a storm.

Survey on the Plains—Spain and Chili.

The Secretaries of the War and Treasury Departments and General Grant are said to be much interested in the proposed geological survey between the Rocky mountains and the Sierra Nevadas, and the expedition will be accompanied by an efficient military escort. It will probably result in a complete scientific reconnoissance of that region. The appropriation comes out of the unexpended funds of the War Department. The chief of the geological party is Kin.

The Herald publishes a circular from Secretary Seward dated Dec. 1, inviting Spain and the South American Republics to unite in a peace conference at Washington April 1st, and suggesting that the conference be authorized to appoint some neutral power as umpire for the arrangement of differences respecting international laws and courtesies, without, however, interfering with the terms agreed upon between the interested parties. It is said the Chilean Government will confer with her allies before accepting the proposition, but it is probable it will be finally accepted.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7.—Coroner Harris held a post mortem examination yesterday on the body of Peter Nichols, who was supposed to have committed suicide, which showed that he came to his death from an overdose of morphine. It is said that he had been accustomed to use morphine, opium and other drugs to quiet his nerves, and his death may therefore have been accidental, and not intentional.

The jury in the wine case, which has been on trial in the United States District Court for several days past, rendered a decision against the Government last evening, after four hours deliberation.

Gold closed in New York at 136. The market here yesterday was very fluctuating, dropping as low as 133½. Sterling was quoted at 108@108¼. SAN FRANCISCO, March 7.—The American Theatre was crowded to excess last night on the occasion of a call of the working men of San Francisco to protest against the employment and immigration of Chinese. The Secretary read a long list of Vice Presidents who took their seats on the stage and the business of the meeting commenced. Several speakers were introduced, and they denounced in severe terms those who employed Chinese laborers. After considerable discussion as to whether politicians or laboring men should control the business of the new association to be formed, resolutions were passed denouncing all who employed Chinese and severely condemned the directors of the Pacific Railroad. They also passed resolutions to withdraw their trade from those who employed Chinese laborers. The different trades union societies were well represented.

Stock sales this afternoon's board are as follows: Ophir, $225; Yellow Jacket, 780; Savage, $2,000; Chollar, $253; Gould & Curry, $800; Imperial, $195.

THE TARIFF BILL has been defeated in Congress; but KOHN & FISHEL, of the ST. LOUIS STORE, 111 Front street, will sell their New Stock of GENTS' CLOTHING and FURNISHING GOODS at rates defying competition.

NEW ARRANGEMENT.—THE OLD BUCHTEL & CARDWELL PHOTOGRAPH GALLERY, 89 First Street, has passed into the hands of JOSEPH BUCHTEL, Proprietor and Operator, who, having just returned from San Francisco, with ALL THE LATE IMPROVEMENTS, is prepared to take every style of picture known to the art.

THIS COMPANY HAVING GREATLY enlarged their Refining Works, and introduced many other important improvements, are pleased to announce that they feel warranted in again reducing materially their terms of doing business.

THE TARIFF OF CHARGES

Which they now submit to the public, made with reference to the cost of material and labor, is lower than in any other part of the world, and secures to the mining interest of this coast an important increase in both the minting and commercial value of bullion.

Their charges hereafter will be as follows:

FOR ASSAYING DEPOSITS FOR UNPARTED GOLD BARS.

One-eighth of one per cent. (heretofore a quarter) for all amounts over $1,600, and two dollars for any smaller sum. Returns made in twenty-four hours.

FOR ASSAYING DEPOSITS FOR UNPARTED SILVER BARS

Two dollars for the gold contained, up to $1,600, and one-eighth of one per cent, for all amounts over that sum, and one per cent. on the silver contained. Returns made in twenty-four hours.

FOR REFINING DEPOSITS MADE FOR COIN OR FINE BARS.

On bullion under 300 parts gold, 2 cents per ounce.
On bullion from 300¼@600 parts gold, 4 cents per ounce.
On bullion from 600¼@750 parts gold, 6 cents per ounce.
On bullion from 750¼@949¾ parts gold, 8 cents per ounce.
Above 950 the only charge will be for coinage. But there will be no charge for refining less than two dollars.

FOR COINING GOLD.

This charge will be the same as at the Mint—a half of one per cent—and which is paid by us to that institution. But there will be no charge in future for making fine gold or silver bars from bullion refined by us.

RETURNS IN COIN IN FORTY-EIGHT HOURS.

Silver contained in deposits for coin will be accounted for at the same rate customary at the Mint.
Gold bars of other Assayers, in good standing, will be cashed by us at the highest market rates.
Dust and bullion can be forwarded to us from any part of the country, and returns made through Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express.

CHARGES AT U. S. BRANCH MINT.

For the convenience of those not familiar with the terms of the Mint, we subjoin the tariff of charges now in force at that institution:
For refining bullion under 300 parts gold, 3 cents per ounce.
For refining bullion from 300¼@600 parts gold, 5 cents per ounce.
For refining bullion from 830¼@949¾ parts gold, 14 cents per ounce.
The charge for coinage is half of one per cent; and the charge for making fine silver bars, the same.
Comparing the net value of deposits for coinage, with the proceeds of unparted gold bars sold in the market—assuming that the bars have cost ¼ of one per cent—they must be sold at the following par rates to equal the return which would have been made had they been deposited for coinage:
850 par to equal Mint return, at refining charge of 14 cents.
845 par to equal Mint return, at refining charge of 14 cents.
865 par to equal San Francisco A. & R. Works return, at refining charge of 8 cents. mh14d1m

INTERESTING TO PHOTOGRAPHERS.—A case was brought in the U. S. Circuit Court by an association of photographers against J. D. Robertson to enjoin the use of bromine in the preparation of collodion for use in photography, pending the proceedings for an alleged infringement of patent. The application for injunction was heard before Judge Deady on the 27th ult., and the following is the Judge's opinion and decision on the application:

Complainant, as assignee of Jas. A. Cutting, patentee claims the exclusive right to the use of bromine in the preparation of collodion for use in photography. The claim in the patent is for the employment of bromine of potassium in combination with collodion. The patent describes the process of preparing the collodion at length, and declares that the introduction of bromine is for the purpose of "exciting" in other words making sensitive, the collodion, so that comparatively but a brief time is required to produce an impression. It now appears that bromine may be applied to the preparation of collodion by means of calcium, cadmium, lithium and other substances with which it readily combines and forms bromines. The material question to be ultimately determined in this case is, whether these different bromines are to be deemed, for the purposes of the discovery and patent, chemical equivalents, equally involving the principles of the discovery namely, the application of bromine to collodion by the use of different means or agents. My mind inclines to the affirmative of the question, although I would not presume to pronounce an absolute opinion upon the matter at this time. The defendants deny the use of bromine in any of its forms in their business, but at the same time insist that the patent in this case only covers the use of the bromine in the form of bromide of potassium, or, in other words, the application of bromine through the means or agency of potassium. If the denials of the defendants be correct, a temporary injunction cannot injure them, and if they be otherwise, upon my impression that all the bromines used in photography are only the equivalents of that specified in the claim of the patent, and therefore included in it, I think I ought to allow the injunction. It does not appear that the assignment to the complainant has been recorded in the Patent Office, as directed by Section 11, of the Act of July 4, 1836. This omission is argued by the defendants as a bar to the complainant's right to maintain their suit. Between an assignee and a stranger this provision of the statute has been held only directory. (4 McLean, 558; 2 Story, 525.) The record of the assignment only becomes material upon a conflict, or controversy between persons claiming under different grants from the same patentee. Upon the complainants filing a bond in the sum of two [illegible] dollars, with two sufficient sureties, the injunction may issue, enjoining the defendants from using bromine in any form or combination, in the art of photography, under a penalty of five thousand dollars.

In another column will be found an advertisement specially addressed to photographers of Oregon, warning them not to infringe upon the rights of the owner of the bromine patent right for this State.

[illegible].—It is rather fashionable for up-country newspapers to hammer away at Portland whenever they have [illegible] to say anything about the Oregon and California Railroad. They are all very sure that Portland [illegible]; they are equally sure that Portland is terribly alarmed lest the road will be built with [illegible] and that, therefore, Portland is [illegible]. Having satisfied themselves on these points, the [illegible] papers worry themselves into spasms of [illegible] indignation and scold, scold, scold away at [illegible], Portland's selfishness, Portland's [illegible] the interests of the rest of the State, etc., etc., [illegible] threaten Portland with a transfer of the valley [illegible] to some point on the Columbia river, and the [illegible] abandonment of the metropolitan city to [illegible] of grass in its streets and the undisturbed [illegible] of bats and owls in its spacious bricks. One would think, to hear them talk, that Portland is occupying a most precarious commercial position in the State, and that the [illegible] are only restrained by a [illegible] of magnanimity, from snuffing [illegible] candle and [illegible]. When they get fairly on their hobby, [illegible] it is amusing to see with what a brief [illegible] they blow the railroad into [illegible] and with [illegible] bid farewell to Portland's [illegible]. That Portland is part of Oregon; that Oregon would be [illegible] than it is, if Portland were to [illegible] and that Portland and those of the [illegible] and dependent, one upon the other, are facts that do not seem to be recognized. [illegible] the fact is, no railroad will be built for some years, simply because it is going to be a great work. [illegible] not going to [illegible] for she has not got the money. The money must be obtained [illegible] of all Oregon, to procure the money. If [illegible] that a few counties in the interior are [illegible] their fingers at Portland, leave her out [illegible] go on and build the road without her [illegible] they will probably find, at the end of [illegible] ten years, that railroads are heavy jobs [illegible] and that the confidence of those [illegible] to invest, has not been very greatly [illegible]. Portland wants the railroad. [illegible] time she is just as ready to [illegible] as any other part of the State. Some of [illegible] are incorporators in the railroad company. [illegible] anything be done toward the road, the first [illegible] just about as likely to be furnished by Portland [illegible] other part of the State, and in as liberal sums. [illegible] in need of what Portland [illegible] will do. Then, we can't exactly [illegible] where the laugh comes in on these continual tirades [illegible] in the up-country papers, to [illegible] and to fall in with help which [illegible]. We do not believe they can afford to [illegible] cut us off from participation in the railroad [illegible]. At all [illegible] Portland is not suffering to any great extent, from alarm at the [illegible] prospect of a road with [illegible] as terminus.

[illegible].—The San [illegible] of the 28th ult., says: About half-past [illegible] a fire broke out in the engineer's [illegible] on board the steamer [illegible], lying at the [illegible]. An alarm was sounded at Station No. [illegible] of Brannan and California streets, and in a few [illegible] the engines were on the wharf alongside of which the [illegible] lay. Hose was carried over her side and [illegible] the hatches and water conveyed to the spot where the fire was burning. It was in a lot of rubbish, [illegible], which gave off great volumes of smoke, but the flames were not strong; indeed, but little damage was done by the fire. The bark Live Yankee lay forward of the [illegible], and her officers fearing danger, sent for a tug to haul her off into the stream. The wind was [illegible] a strong gale and with the strong tide running out at the time, the bark was driven against the steamer's [illegible] were put out and she raked the whole length, doing no damage to the steamer except to carry away a small part of her rigging. Once clear, the Live Yankee went down the Bay with the tide, and before the [illegible] safety. The damage to the [illegible] only about $15 or $20, and she will not be delayed by the accident. The officers complimented the [illegible] of the Fire Department for the promptness with which they came to the relief of the vessel.

A NEW AND RICH DISCOVERY.—A private letter shown [illegible] a strictly reliable party, at [illegible], Oregon, [illegible] the following, under date of Feb. 28th: A few days since, two men by the name of C. H. [illegible] and [illegible] McNiff, discovered a very rich quartz ledge at Eagle creek, Hog'em District, notwithstanding [illegible] deep, and had washed out $149, [illegible] the same day with a rocker. [illegible] wide and widens as they go down. [illegible] the writer expresses the utmost confidence [illegible] of Eagle creek in gold bearing [illegible].

[illegible] CENTRAL PACIFIC.—The Bulletin [illegible] says: Judge Deady rendered a decision in favor of defendants to-day, in the suit of A. Carder [illegible] W. C. Smith, et al. The defendant, [illegible] Collector of Internal Revenue for the Fifth [illegible] District, and on the 22d of October last seized a [illegible] of fruits at Napa City, on account of their not [illegible] stamps affixed, as required by law. The [illegible] of the goods, brought suit to recover [illegible] the ground that the Collector had no right to [illegible], but Judge Deady holds that the goods should [illegible] stamped, and were consequently liable to seizure [illegible] to the United States.

[illegible] WEDNESDAY NIGHT.—Prof. Cardinell's [illegible] of Wednesday evening was a very pleasant affair. [illegible] was large, being attracted partly by the [illegible] the Professor's soirees have, and partly to see [illegible] his pupils have made in the saltatory art. [illegible] very marked improvement were sufficient [illegible] to satisfy the most exacting. The very [illegible] in which guests are treated, by both [illegible] and his pupils, serves to enhance in a great [illegible] of such an occasion.

A LIVELY DAY.—Yesterday, Front street presented a [illegible] almost from one end to the other. [illegible] were all day long piled with goods just [illegible] of the Ajax, and [illegible] to the sales-rooms. [illegible] weather seemed also to have turned everybody out of doors, so that, what with business, business men, [illegible] and loungers, the sidewalks were unusually [illegible].

ICE IN THE COLUMBIA RIVER.—Captain Wolf, of the Cascades, [illegible] us that he found ice in the Columbia river, [illegible] morning. Should the north wind, now prevailing, continue for a few days, as now seems probable, it is quite likely that ice will be formed in considerable quantities. Strong hopes are entertained that ice may yet be put up at the Dalles for use next summer.

[illegible] FIRE CO. No. 3.—By a private letter from Vancouver, last evening, we learn that the "Gen. Allen Fire Co. No. 2," of the Quartermaster's Depot at Fort Vancouver, met and organized on Wednesday evening, electing the following officers: Foreman, Geo. T. Hodgins; 1st [illegible], Chas. Bowling; 2d Assistant, John Edding; [illegible], Wm. M. Armstrong.

[illegible] RECEIPTS.—Arrived per Alert, Thursday, March 7, 1,054 boxes apples, 22 boxes produce, 23 half barrels produce, 2 sacks and 4 cases merchandise, 25 sacks bacon, 7 sacks seed, 1 case woolen goods, 324 quarter sacks flour, 2 sacks dried apples, 3 boxes eggs, 3 barrels [illegible] keg lard.

RESIGNATION AND ELECTION.—At a regular meeting of Multnomah Fire Company No. [illegible], at their engine house, last evening, Mr. A. B. Hallock resigned his offices of Foreman and member of the Board of Delegates. Joseph Buchtel was then elected Foreman, and D. F. Norden, member of the Board of Delegates.

[illegible] OF TUESDAY.—A private telegram from San Francisco, says the Idaho sailed for Portland on Tuesday, the 5th, at 10 o'clock A. M. She will probably arrive this evening.

[illegible].—Oregon ought to [illegible] a plank out of one of her mammoth trees and send it to the [illegible]. Board promises to be scarce there.

[illegible].—A telegram from San Francisco, of yesterday, [illegible] the arrival there on the previous evening of the [illegible] Continental.

COUNTY COURT—MARSHAM, JUDGE.—On Thursday, March 7th, the following proceedings were had in the County Court:

Order made to establish the County road known as the Blackostone road, commencing at the Gem Garden in Portland, running thence to the southeast corner of Sherlock & Bacon's meadow.

The day was mostly employed in examining the accounts against the county.

CIRCUIT COURT—SHATTUCK, JUDGE.—The proceedings of Thursday, March 7th, were as follows:

Mary Jane Downs vs. Samuel Downs; application for divorce; suit dismissed.

THE TANNERS.—This troupe presented a fine bill of amusements last night, though the house was rather a thin one. The entertainments they are offering each night, deserve far better patronage than they are receiving. The plays, songs, dances, etc., are all of them free from anything which could offend and are really of an order far above the ordinary minstrel shows. They offer to-night an entire change of programme.

B STREET.—S. Simmons & Co. completed their contract yesterday afternoon, for grading and macadamizing a portion of B street. The final rolling will be done to-day, and the work will then be submitted for acceptance or rejection by the Council's Committee on Streets and Public Property.

RECORDER'S COURT.—Patrick Downey, forgetful of his promises of the day before to lead a sober life, got beastly drunk Wednesday evening and was up yesterday morning in the Recorder's Court. He was sent to jail for two days.

AN UNDENIABLE FACT.—We have Clothing of all kinds, and our stock includes a splendid stock of Furnishing Goods. The stock which we sell is all custom made, gotten up expressly for our large Retail Trade, which we offer cheap, at the very lowest rates and warrant the goods to be just what we state. For further particulars, call upon Harman Bros., 115 Front street, formerly City of Paris Store.

HOW TO SAVE MONEY.—We know of no better way to save money than to re-color garments and thus make them practically as good as new. This can be done by using the celebrated FAMILY DYE COLORS of Howe & Stevens, which are equal to the best French, and ten times as cheap and convenient. Sold by Smith & Davis.

N. P. WILLIS' LAST LETTER.—The following letter has a melancholy interest as the last ever written to the Home Journal by the late poet:

IDLEWILD, Jan. 14, 1867.

My Dear Phillips—I am still in extremis, debarred by one of the kindest physicians from my accustomed, pen-paper visit to our appreciated and appreciative circle of Home Journal readers. One brief line is my present limit of indulgence, and, for some days yet, the full interchange of convalescent greeting, must be enjoyed only in anticipation. Meanwhile, in lieu of my own interdicted inklings, I make use of an able article, which I find already prepared for me, by Prof. Taylor Lewis, and contributed to one of our religious weeklies. If too long, it may be abridged —a task which the crippled brevity of my aguish elbow leaves to you for execution.

Yours, as ever, N. P. W.

GREATEST DEPTH OF MINES.—The Eselsbacht mine at Kuttenburg, in Bohemia, now inaccessible, is the deepest mine in the world, being 3,773 feet below the surface. Its depth is only 150 feet less than the height of Mount Vesuvius, and eight times greater than the height of the pyramid of Cheops. The bore of the salt works of Minden, in Prussia, is 2,231 feet deep, and 1,993 feet below the level of the sea. The mine of Valenciana, in Mexico, 1,686 feet deep, and yet is 5,960 feet above the level of the sea. The Tresavean copper mine, in England, is 2,112 feet in depth, and 1,000 feet below the level of the sea.

DESPERATE FIGHT BETWEEN A MAN AND A HOG.—The Baton Rouge Comet gives the particulars of the death of a negro under circumstances of the most singular character. The negro had been hunting wild hogs, and shot one, but the wound not proving mortal, a struggle took place. The Comet says:—The negro and hog, as we remarked before, were both found dead—the negro with his under jaw firmly held between the jaws of his formidable antagonist, whose upper teeth had penetrated within the negro's mouth, while its under teeth held fast to the chin of the poor darkey, who in this strange encounter proved both victim and victimizer.

An ardent entomologist lately fell in love with a lady solely because of her beetle brows.

Are you aware that the premonitories of Consumption are Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Pains in the side and chest, difficulties of breathing, &c. If you permit these symptoms to run on tubercles will be the result, and end in Consumption. Now if you want to cure these diseases use ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM without delay. Consumptives should never give up and think there is no hope until you have tried ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM. It has cured many cases that physicians pronounced incurable. Sold by the dealers in family medicine generally. f18d1m

PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER is really a valuable medicament, and unlike most of the patented articles of the day, is used by many physicians. It is particularly desirable in localities where physicians are not near, and in families will often save the necessity of sending out at midnight for a doctor. A bottle should be kept in every house.—Boston Traveler. fel6dlw1m

HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities, CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of [illegible].

The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

The "Mad Stone"

The Evansville (Ind.) Journal of January 23d, has the following account of a cure effected by a "mad stone" It asserts that "whatever may be said in regard to the properties of this stone for the cure of those who have been bitten by rabid dogs, it is certain that great confidence is reposed in it, and its application is attended with wonderful results" It continues

We have a case in hand The party is a lady by the name of Adamson, from the vicinity of Uniontown, Kentucky On Sunday, (13th) a rabid dog entered her house and made a ferocious attack upon a child, her daughter, who escaped harm through the lady's interposition, but she was herself bitten on the finger Knowing the dog to have been rabid, she accepted the company of a friend and repaired to the residence of Mr Carlos Johnson, in Warwick county, in this State, soon after, to avail herself of the medical properties supposed, and by some believed to be possessed by a stone, so-called, in the possession of this gentleman The mad stone was not on the premises at the time, having last been used in this city in a similar case with perfect success She then came to this city, and the stone was yesterday applied to her finger at the hotel where she is tarrying The stone immediately adhered with the tenacity of a leech, and then fell off, as is supposed, only when the poison was absorbed, or the pores filled with excrement drawn from the wound This stone was originally brought from England, and is of the appearance of bone, or rather, pumice-stone, being porous, and of a greyish color. When the mad stone is applied and kept on the wound for a short period, it is taken off and boiled in sweet milk, and again applied Those who have had the stone applied, assert that it produces a curious feeling, as if under some electric influence.

Mrs. Adamson has been suffering with the pain of suspense, not knowing what would be her fate; but now she feels much more cheerful and confident.

As soon as this case is satisfied, two children bitten by the same rabid dog, will have the stone applied. They are awaiting its use.

We believe physicians generally do not admit the efficacy of the mad stone, yet its successes stagger the unbeliever. Surely there is something very remarkable about it, as hundreds of terrible deaths are, to all appearances, avoided by its use Is it a triumph of mind over matter, or is it a triumph of matter of mind?

GREELEY TAKEN FOR A HACK DRIVER.—The philosopher of the Tribune arrived in Washington a few evenings since, and happening to have a few hours leisure on Thursday night, he concluded to attend the reception of Speaker Colfax. He arrayed himself in his usual neat and fashionable costume—boots like young gunboats; pantaloons rather worse for the wear, of Chatham street stock, and a couple of inches too short at that; vest cheap and old fashioned, black silk kerchief, tied around his neck as you'd tie a wisp of straw around a bundle of corn-stalks; overcoat long, threadbare and dirty withal—the whole surmounted by a hat of the fashion of twenty years ago, hung on the back of his head, and inclining at an angle of 45 degrees. He made his way to Four-and-a-half street, ascended the steps of the Speaker's house, and fell into the rear of a large and elegantly dressed crowd of ladies and gentlemen, pressing their way to the parlor. On such occasions there is always a good deal of trouble with the hackmen. They will insist on disregarding the rules in these cases made and provided, that they shall move to the other side of the street as fast as they are relieved of their gay and precious burdens, so as to prevent a general blockade and to make way for those who are yet to come Sometimes there is quite a row between the masters of [illegible] scrambles and an obstinate Jehu who attempts to ignore or disregard the rules of vehicular discipline. Horace was quietly waiting his turn, on the occasion referred to, for the "rush" to cease, not taking much notice of what was going on around him—composing a tariff article or an amnesty proclamation for the Tribune, perhaps—when a Milesian gentleman, who had been officiating as a sort of outside usher, dashed at him in a fit of great rage, and told him if he didn't move his d—d old hack, he'd start his team for him and let them go to h—l if they liked. The Tribune philosopher reminded his assailant that his was a clear case of mistaken identity. "I'm not a hack driver, sir, you're mistaken altogether." "Ain't you the owner of that pair of grays?" inquired the officiating Hibernian: "No, sir, my name is Greeley; I've come to attend the reception." The truth now flashed upon the Irish mind that he had grossly insulted the editor of the Tribune, and he commenced apologizing. "You see," sir," said he, "we have a great deal of trouble with those hack drivers, and upon my honor, sir, when I saw you standing there, I thought you were the man that drove up that pair of horses." Greeley laughed, said no apology was necessary, and walked in to see Colfax and the reception —Washington Correspondent Chicago Tribune.

TURKEY—HER TROUBLES. The New York Tribune says

All accounts from Europe agree that affairs in the Danubian principalities are assuming a most formidable aspect for the Turkish Government. When the new hospodar of Roumania had obtained a compliance with all his demands, which amount to a virtual recognition of the independence of his State, the Prince of Servia at once made the same demands, and in particular, insisted on the evacuation of the Servian fortresses by Turkish troops. Recently, the president of the Servian Senate, paid a visit to Vienna to confer with the Austrian Ministry. We are credibly informed that the Servians, in order to [illegible] their independence, desire to unite with the Roumanians in a "Danubian confederation," and that Baron Beust expressed great sympathy with this plan. This would indicate a great change in the foreign policy of Austria, which was formerly charged with being "more Turkish than the Turks" A recent cable dispatch informs us that the Servian question is becoming very threatening. To appreciate the importance of the movements going on in that quarter, it is well to remember that, although the principality of Servia numbers only 1,000,000 of inhabitants, the number of Serbs in European Turkey amounts altogether to 4,000,000, and a union of Roumanians and Serbs would mean the proposed establishment of a Christian Confederation of 8,000,000 of inhabitants. It may be regarded as certain that Turkey, without foreign aid, will be unable to prevent the success of this scheme, which would be another step—and probably the most important yet taken—towards the [illegible] disintegration of the Ottoman Empire.

The New York Times says:

The revolutionary spirit of the Greek inhabitants of Turkey seems on the increase. In Thessaly, in the mountainous district of Agrapha, armed insurrection has begun. The Journal of Lamia publishes the fact, and brings six documents corroborating it, which we cannot undertake to publish. A brief abstract of them is worth giving. The first is a petition of the assembly of insurrectionists in the Agrapha mountains to the King of Greece, asking for the intervention of the sovereign of their liberated brethren to support them in their endeavor to be united with the mother country. The second is a declaration of the inhabitants of Thessaly against the oppression of Ottoman rule, and is addressed to the European consuls in Thessaly The third is a formal protest against Turkish dominion, addressed to the Governor General of Thessaly The fourth is a letter to the President of the holy synod of Greece, asking for assistance and help The fifth is an appeal to all Greeks to arise to complete the interrupted work of liberation of 1821, and the sixth a prayer to the Cretan committee of Athens for aid.

Shreveport, in the State of Louisiana, must be a delightful place to live in. The Southwestern, a paper published there, under the head of "A Good Day for Killing," says: "Last Thursday was a good day for 'shuffling off this mortal coil' in this city. Early in the morning a worthy young man, clerking in a store at Muggiesville accidentally dropped his revolver, which caused it to go off, shooting him through the body, causing instant death Later in the day, a freedman and his son got into a quarrel about a mule, which resulted in the son shooting his father through the head killing him instantly. Late that night a gambler called 'Banco,' stabbed in the heart a man named Turner, at a ball given by the [illegible] on the corner of Edward and Texas streets Turner lingered a day or two and expired"

Two of the most active fancy goods dealers in Boston, Mass, have temporarily suspended, Other small failures have followed To show the stringency of the money pressure the Post says "A very shrewd bank president yesterday remarked, in reply to a query, that he wanted $2 security for every dollar he lent. This may be a little strong, but it shows the feeling which exists."

Two young boys were recently drowned in Crooked Lake, near Pen Yan, N. Y, and at almost the same hour of their death a child playing with its doll, in a residence almost 20 miles from the place where the death occurred, suddenly exclaimed that her cousin, (meaning the youngest boy) was drowned The exclamation was sudden and repeated, and in a few hours the telegraph confirmed the child's statement.

"At the "Hub," the question is agitated, "Shall Boston retain her young men?" The Board of Trade discussed the subject at their late annual meeting, acknowledging the necessity of doing something to prevent the young men of Boston from seeking business elsewhere. The Board recommended a renewal of the endeavor to effect such an alteration of the law regulating limited partnerships as will enable the older business men to make room for the younger without withdrawing themselves entirely from business.

After receiving his pardon, ex Gov. T. O Moore, of Louisiana, visited his plantation for the first time in several years. While riding over the grounds, and when passing the site of his once large sugarhouse, he startled three deer, which were lying in their beds in apparent security. In 1860 there were few more highly cultivated and productive estates than Gov. Moore's His income from sugar and cotton alone exceeded $100,000 a year. Nothing is left of this splendid estate but the land and the charred and blackened ruins of the once elegant, spacious and comfortable buildings.

Fountain of Life!
THE

IN EVERY PROGRESSIVE SCIENCE PERIODS ARrive when a new direction is imparted to its course These epochs proceed from discovery of new facts shedding a light which changes the whole aspect of the science The present is an epoch of this kind, and this Great Remedy, now offered to the public, in connection with the theory on which it is based is destined to effect an entire revolution in the treatment of the diseases of

by eradicating the disease entirely from the blood The FOUNTAIN OF LIFE is composed entirely of vegetable extracts, it contains no Mercury or other mineral substance

The Proprietor and Discoverer of this Sovereign Remedy CHALLENGES THE WORLD to furnish anything, from the days of Esculapius down to the present time, in the arcana of Medical Science, which can vie with or excel the intrinsic properties of this Great Blood Purifier. Its value has been tested with the happiest effect in the most obstinate cases of Scrofula, that baffled the skill of the most eminent physicians in the world No matter what form the dreadful disease of SCROFULA and KING'S EVIL may have assumed it can in no way be more safely and certainly arrested in its progress than by HENLEY'S GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER Thousands have been swept into their graves, who had they made a timely use of the FOUNTAIN OF LIFE, might now be enjoying the blessings of life and health It requires an article of real merit and intrinsic value to sustain itself. During the stern ordeal of public experiment the FOUNTAIN OF LIFE has stood the test trial, and not been found wanting

Dr. HENLEY guarantees to CURE any case of SCROFULA or KING'S EVIL in the world, and eradicate the disease entirely from the system, or no charge made —provided they will secure him his pay when they are cured

FOR REFERENCE

I would refer you to L. L. Peck, of Portland, Oregon, and numbers of others, as to what a miraculous effect it had in a short time, in cases that had baffled the skill of physicians for years.
